

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

DISTRICT COURT No. 1.—President Judge Sharswood.—Moses Bank vs. Stephen Shagan. An action on the promissory notes drawn by the defendant to the order of the Insurance Company of the State of Virginia, in December, 1860, and by the Company indorsed to the Bank of the Commonwealth of Richmond, Virginia, and by the bank indorsed to plaintiffs. The defense set up was that the notes were not given in payment of the premium on a policy of insurance made by the Insurance Company through their agent in this city, and that the consideration therefor failed by the cancellation of the policy by the agent of the Company after the breaking out of the rebellion. It was further set up in defense that when the plaintiffs became the indorsers of the two promissory notes, and procuring indorsers, viz.:—the Insurance Company, of the State of Virginia, and the Bank of the Commonwealth of Richmond, Virginia, were also the indorsers of the notes of the United States, and within the allegiance of a foreign State, to wit, the so-called Confederate States of America, and that at the time of the commencement of this suit the persons exercising the powers of government on the so-called Confederate States of America were at war with and against the United States, and that the said indorsers were such agents and such enemies, and were resident in the State of Virginia, and adhering to the enemies of the United States. Judge Sharswood directed the jury to find a verdict for the plaintiffs. Verdict accordingly for plaintiffs for $111 84. E. Rey and W. J. McKelroy, for plaintiffs; A. J. Fish and Isaac H. Baughman, for defendants.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.—Judge Peates.—James F. Sherry vs. Leonard Crover. An action brought to recover one week's salary as actor at the New Chestnut Street Theatre, in the summer of 1864, the plaintiff alleging that he was improperly discharged because of his intoxication. On trial, Thomas J. Worrell, Esq., for plaintiff; Lucas and John L. First, Esqs., for defendant. Verdict for the plaintiff for $100. Peates, J., for plaintiff; Thomas J. Worrell, Esq., for defendant.

DISTRICT COURT No. 2.—Judge Stroud.—Wolcott vs. George L. Crawford and Marcus H. Mc Dowell and John H. Edwards. An action to recover for professional services of plaintiff as attorney for defendants. Defense denied that Mr. Crawford was employed as attorney. George M. Dallas, Esq., for plaintiff; Thomas J. Diehl, Esq., for defendants.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS.—Allison, President Judge.—Fison cases still occupy the sessions of the Court. Catharine McQuade pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a coat, the property of Joseph Michael. She took the coat out of a back kitchen, and was in the act of selling it when arrested. Sentenced to four months in County Prison.

John Mann pleaded guilty to the larceny of a patent bicycle, worth $10, the property of Wm. W. Duncan. Sentenced to six months in County Prison.

James Mason pleaded guilty to stealing three saws, the property of Mr. Ryall. He broke into Mr. Ryall's shop to steal the articles. Sentenced to six months in County Prison.

Thomas Kelly pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing sixty pounds of iron, the property of the Reading Railroad Company. Sentenced to four months in County Prison.

Patrick Comer pleaded guilty to stealing a silver watch, the property of Roddy McCloskey. Sentenced to two years in County Prison.

Sarah Egan pleaded guilty to the larceny of a gold watch and chain, the property of Emily J. Houghton. Sentenced to nine months in County Prison.

George Shannon pleaded guilty to stealing a coat, belonging to George W. King. Sentenced to fifteen months in County Prison.

William Anderson pleaded guilty of stealing ten pounds of sugar from S. & W. Welsh. Sentenced to three months in County Prison.

George Bowers, William Braden, and William Wood, were charged with stealing between four and six hundred dollars, the property of the "Standard Mills," Norris street and Frankford road. Braden pleaded guilty. The mills were just established, and no fire-proof had been yet obtained. Mr. Eckstein, the cashier, therefore, frequently kept money in the desk. On the 6th of February last, Bowers was left in charge of the office by the porter or watchman. Next morning Mr. Eckstein missed two hundred dollars, but being in the confidence of his employers, Bowers was not arrested. Subsequently, on the 11th of February, while Mr. Eckstein was at dinner, the desk was pried open, and between two and four hundred dollars taken. Bowers and Braden being arrested, implicated Wood, who was also arrested, but denied any participation in or knowledge of the robbery. Bowers stated to the officer that a portion of the money had been hidden under the platform of the Kensington depot, and there $137 was found. There being nothing in the evidence to implicate Wood, he was acquitted. Bowers was convicted. The defendants are all aids between fifteen and sixteen years old.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE GREAT RAVELS.—Mr. William Whately deposes all of the success he is now experiencing at the Academy of Music for enabling this city to witness the performances of this great troupe. Antonio and Gabriel Rave, Young America, and the greatest Martinelli family are too well known to need any notice here. However, together, the only performers of their class in the world. The new premiere consensus of the troupe is Madlle Popila—a French artist—and one of the most accomplished we have ever seen. She takes the place of the famous Yrea Mathias and her appearance each evening in the Terpsichorean department is the signal for universal applause. She is ably assisted by Mous Van Hamme and Vandra, and Mediane Lamontex, Desires, Margret, Vandra, and Lehman with an excellent corps de ballet. The performances are varied and attractive, and some new features are added in each performance. Several novelties are announced in preparation, which will keep up the recher of the little pantomimic season to a very prominent degree.

ARCH STREET THEATRE.—Last evening the theatre was filled with a most fashionable and intelligent audience, to witness the repetition of Mr. Murdoch's performance of "Eve." This evening he will appear in the Dramatis. The part of "Vand" is one in which Mr. Murdoch exhibits his wonderful histrionic powers to the greatest advantage. The play is exceedingly amusing and well cast. Mr. Murdoch's exceedingly successful engagement is drawing to a close. It is long since he was here, and will be long before we see him again. No one should lose the opportunity of witnessing an actor who is, in his own special style, without a rival.

NEW CHESTNUT STREET THEATRE.—The Deceiver and the Betrayer will be given this evening. This play is one of great interest, and is played to perfection by the company at the Chestnut Street Theatre. Miss Orton, in the impassioned, tender wife, has one of the most delicate touches she does so well know how to portray. This afternoon a comedy matinee will be given, at which She Stoops to Conquer will be played. The matinee at the Chestnut is always crowded.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—Last is the play to-night Mrs. Bowers gives us the story, and more of the woman than Miss Bateman. Her early scenes are full of passion; her cure is intense and her violent. Although Mrs. Bowers is not a great artist, her performance, Mr. McColeman will play "Rudolph."
